as we see it

Thanks to Bob Hope, well-paced production and intelligent direction, the Motion Picture Academy Awards this year made a thoroughly interesting and enjoyable show. It was immeasurably better than previous telecasts of Hollywood's big night.

Hope was especially good, turning in by far his best TV performance of the season. Away from those ridiculous comedy skits and smooching scenes his writers give him for Tuesday nights, he is an engaging master of ceremonies and certainly funny.

Since the Academy's officers insist upon presenting their technical awards on the air—awards that basically are of little or no interest to most viewers—the producers even found a way to give the technicians some glamor. The awards in those categories were presented by nominees for the top acting awards; and even though you might not care a whit about the documentary film winner, you did have an opportunity to see lovely Grace Kelly present the Oscar. That technique did, at least, take some of the curse off devoting 75 minutes of the 90-minute show to technical awards. Parading the nominees also helped build suspense for the acting awards.

On several occasions we have urged the Academy to spare us the sight of strange gentlemen in dinner jackets rushing to the rostrum. We didn't think it was good showmanship. But, quite frankly, we must admit that the technical awards were well handled and weren't a bit boring this year.

The New York cut-ins, with everyone rooting for "On the Waterfront," were short and quite effective.

All in all—including even the commercials—it was a most satisfying program. Everyone connected with it is to be congratulated.

Congratulations, Academy!

NEW YORK Bob Stahl reports:

NBC's Saturday and Sunday night "spectaculars" are slated to run through the summer. JACK RAYEL, original producer of the Home show, will spell MAX LIEBMAN as producer . . . Despite a rumor of cancellation, ART LINKLETTER's People Are Funny has been renewed for next season, complete with 13 repeats during the summer months. Filming for next season starts May 26.

PERRY COMO, just signed to a 12-year contract by NBC, will star in an hour-long variety show next fall, slated (at least for now) for the 8-to-9 Saturday night spot . . He does his last 15-minute CBS show July 1, then takes off for at least two months of golf and vacationing.

CBS, seeking a "family" type of show to replace COMO and the DOUGLAS EDWARDS news show, which moves to a new time, has tentatively set its new Gunsmoke series--described as an "adult Western program"--for the Wednesday night period opposite ABC's Disneyland . . . CBS is also trying to lure Rin Tin Tin, The Lone Ranger and The Name's the Same from ABC for that early evening period three other nights during the week.

PIPER LAURIE and AKIM TAMIROFF join DICK POWELL and JACK LEMMON in the cast of "Broadway," scheduled for Best of Broadway Wednesday, May 4 . . . BETTY FURNESS takes over as hostess on CBS' Morning Show for two weeks starting May 2, while JACK PAAR vacations.

CLAUDETTE COLBERT set for a repeat performance on Climax! Thursday, May 19, playing the title role in "The Deliverance of Sister Cecilia" . . . Paramount, claiming The Millionaire is based on its old movie, "If I Had a Million," has been given an option on the series. This means a stipend from each show, plus the right to any TV material if they ever want to make a movie.

EDDIE FISHER will begin telecasting from Hollywood on Wednesday, Aug. 31 . . . And bandleader WOODY HERMAN may be EDDIE's summer replacement. Whether he'd work alone or with his regular band hasn't been decided.

Pilot film of the new Wyatt Earp telefilm series, with HUGH O'BRIAN as the famed Western sheriff, has been completed and is being offered to potential sponsors . . . Although ABC still doesn't know whether RAY BOLGER will return next fall (his sponsor has canceled), the network is planning to move DANNY THOMAS' Make Room for Daddy into BOLGER's present Friday night time spot

U.S. Steel Hour will repeat "Fearful Decision" on Tuesday, May 10, with RALPH BELLAMY and others of the original cast reprising their roles . . . CARMEN MIRANDA, of the fruit-salad headpieces, set to star in a telefilm series being produced by Volcano Productions.

*Trade-mark, Teletype Corp.

HOLLYWOOD Dan Jenkins reports:

Screen star JANE WYMAN has signed to produce and star in a new half-hour anthology dramatic series which will go Tuesday nights on NBC starting Sept. 6, replacing Fireside Theater. The three-year, $4,500,000 deal calls for 36 films a year and eight reruns. MISS WYMAN will star in 20, narrate and produce the rest. She has formed Carmen Productions to do the filming, and starts shooting her own starring episodes Aug. 1. The others will go next month.

Paramount is stepping briskly into the TV programming field. In a deal under discussion with NBC, the studio would furnish all material, including stars, for the network's Sunday night 8-to-9 spot. Not yet known is whether the Comedy Hour title would be retained.

JACK BENNY guests with GEORGE GOBEL Saturday, May 14, in what could be--or at least should be--the show of the year . . . LARAINE DAY is doing a new pilot, Kelly, in which she plays a female doctor . . . NBC has reopened talks with DAVID O. SELZNICK. The network not only wants his old pictures, but wants him to try his hand at a few "spectaculars."

Medic's producers are planning a new show--a half-hour anthology dramatic series . . . This Is Your Life is not seen in Canada. Prospective sponsors up there consider it "too emotional." . . . EDDIE ALBERT will do "The Chocolate Soldier" for MAX LIEBMAN as the Saturday, May 7, "spectacular."

EDWARD SMALL, for Television Programs of America, will splurge with $12,000,000 on a pocketful of new shows, plus a continuation of two old ones next season: Lassie, Halls of Ivy, Count of Monte Cristo, Tugboat Annie, Adventures of Black Beauty, New York Confidential, Grand Hotel and the Spade Cooley Show--ol' SPADE being a Hollywood-type cowpoke of no little local fame.

Cowboy ANDY DEVINE will play a cop, straight, in JACK WEBB's Pete Kelly's Blues . . . BILL (Hopalong Cassidy) BOYD hasn't made a new TV film in two years. Has 52 of them, plus 54 old feature films, working for him day and night

CBS is now planning to build a major TV film production center in Hawaii and has scheduled three series to be shot there: Harte of Honolulu, several episodes of the Coast Guard saga, The Mighty O, and a possible WAYNE MORRIS starrer, Tramp Steamer.

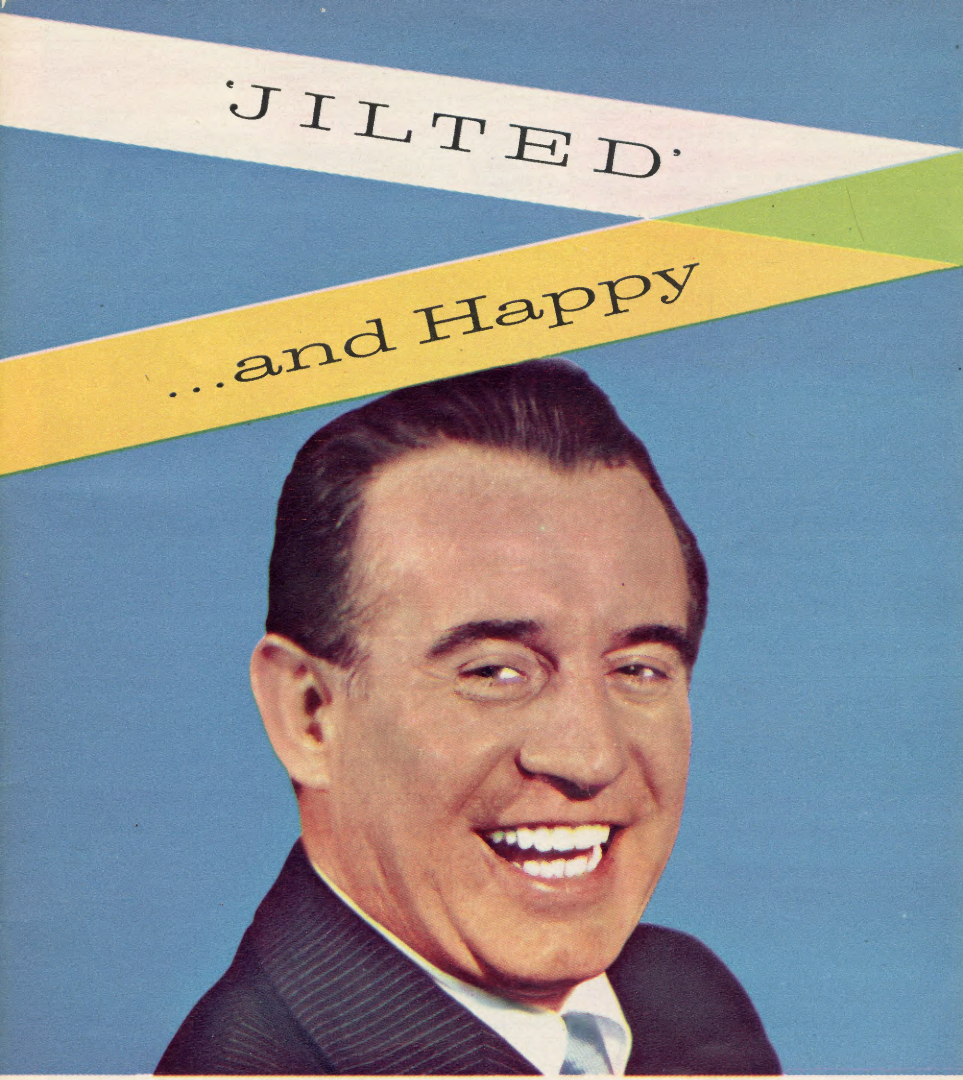
JOAN SHAWLEE's option has been picked up and she's off to England in August to make 23 more films in the new Aggie series. She plays the role of Aggie, an American fashion buyer in London. The three pilots will be strung together to make a British picture . . . That other Disneyland--the amusement park, that is--is set to open Tuesday, July 19.

'JILTED' ...and Happy



At Last Frank Parker Sees An End To That Marion Marlowe 'Romance'

The news that Marion Marlowe, the singer, and Larry Puck, the producer, soon will be wed is making a lot of people happy. Both Marion and Larry presumably are pleased. Arthur Godfrey, who employs them on his television shows, is ecstatic. (He says so himself.) continued

Frank and Marion Sang 'Sweet Nothings,' But . . .

And Frank Parker is delighted.

"Bless them," says Frank with a broad, bland grin. "Bless them both."

Despite the fact that people are saying he has been jilted by Marion, Parker is quite possibly the happiest person involved. And with reason.

For four years now Parker and Marion have been gazing soulfully at each other's tonsils while gurgling, "People Will Say We're in Love"—and the more gullible of the millions who consistently watch them on Arthur Godfrey and His Friends have presumed that they were.

"Of course, there never was any truth in those rumors of romance," says Parker. "It was just that we kind of looked that way in the act."

Marion concurs. "Couldn't they see," she observed recently, "that we were acting?"

Apparently not. Not, at least, until Marion announced her engagement to Puck, co-producer of Godfrey's Talent Scouts. Nowadays, though, Parker can sit back and relax. Once in a while he gets a letter taunting or consoling him for being jilted by Marion, but this disturbs him not at all.

Parker, an easy-going fellow with 30 years of show business experience behind him, never did worry very much about his big "romance." He recognized the value of the publicity to himself, Marion and the show, and was perfectly content to help further the illusion.

The Parker-Marlowe "romance" got its start in January, 1951, when Godfrey discovered Marion singing in a Miami night club. She sang her first duet with Parker a few days later, and someone immediately planted the rumor that the young thrush and the veteran tenor were what the columnists love to keep calling "an item."

The team of Parker and Marlowe was a hit overnight. For a while, indeed, they became so popular that Parker and Marion got almost as much fan mail as Godfrey himself. Then, for a time, the duets ceased. Why? That's one of the many secrets zealously guarded behind the portals of Godfrey's Madison Ave. offices.

Offstage, the two saw a lot of each other for a couple of years. They took music lessons together, shared lunch between rehearsals, even went out dancing once in a while. ("This was romance?" asks Parker.) But, lately, Frank has been cutting down on his playtime. At 51, he no longer feels a compulsion to rip up the town. During the Thirties, when he was a big star on radio, Frank earned $5000 a week, owned a house in Hollywood with a block-long bar, a couple of polo ponies, four boats and an atticful of expensive suits. Today, despite his $75,000 a year, he lives modestly and spends his spare time watching TV and drinking milk.

"I've got enough sense to know I'm not going to be in this business forever," he says. "So I'm going to hold on to what I have. From now on, I'm strictly a carpet-slipper type."

For a carpet-slipper type, Parker keeps pretty busy. Besides working for Godfrey, he makes four to eight personal appearances a year. He's a partner in a company that plans to produce 26 half-hour dramatic shows with "integrated commercials."

"We'll have the commercials right in the film itself, as part of the plot," he explains. "It's a sensational idea."

The new film firm won't be Parker's first venture into the canyons of finance. There was a stable of race horses, for instance, and a Florida night spot. Then Parker had a hot idea involving a transportation service, and his former wife had a scheme for teabags imprinted with Godfrey's picture. And there were others.

"Each time," says Parker cheerfully, "I went busted. Then I'd have to go back to singing."

Frank was "busted" in 1950, and unable to get a job, he says, when Godfrey invited him to appear as a guest on his Wednesday night show.

"After the show," says Frank, "Arthur asked me to drop around next week. And after about a year of this, he asked me to sign a contract. I guess I had just about the longest audition in all show business."

Although Frank's own dimensions have remained reasonably static (he is 5 feet, 8 inches tall and weighs 150 pounds), his job on Godfrey's Friends gradually has gained in stature.

Today he sings—with and without Marion—dances and swaps wisecracks with the boss. "They call me a comedian now," he says, "but that's the bunk. Sometimes Arthur ad libs around with me on the show, but whenever I get stuck, he always comes in and hauls me out of it.

Duet: Arthur Godfrey, Frank Parker belong to mutual admiration society.

"That's like him. He'd never hang a guy up. He's the ace, the best they ever had in this business."

And "The Best They Ever Had in This Business" thinks highly of Parker, too.

"Old Frank," Godfrey has said, "he's a pro."

◀ Don't be fooled: despite magnifying glass, Margie has just signed contract that means trouble . . .

Signed,

Sealed

Delivered

◀ . . . In form of two seals she has to shelter—just when her dad appears on 'Important Persons' show.

What Happened When 'Margie' Didn't Read The Fine Print

The producers of My Little Margie filmed a show recently in which Vern Albright (Charlie Farrell) and his daughter Margie (Gale Storm) appeared on a take-off of Ed Murrow's Person to Person. It was a memorable half-hour of madness in which almost everything happened—even to their making a boast (which, lo and behold, has come true) that they would make the cover of TV GUIDE.

The plot called for Margie to invest

The plot even had a bearded lady.

Jugglers make matters more difficult.

in a circus act, only to find that she had also signed a contract agreeing to house in her apartment a bearded lady, two trained seals and some jugglers—and on the night that her father was to appear before the "Important Persons" cameras, too. If the idea was to produce bedlam, it did.

For example—Margie, thinking that the seals were actually two little boys, read the following off-stage line into a telephone: "Oh, that's easy. Just tell him they're my cousins."

On the word "cousins," Mike, the seal with the Toni, honked the most disgusted honk of his brief but profitable career. By the time cast and crew had recovered from mass hysterics, some $2567 had gone down the drain under the heading of wasted time.

The seals, interested in nothing but the fish their trainer kept feeding them, had an annoying tendency to follow him right out of the scene. He finally hid behind a sofa on the set, which explains why the seals looked so sadly puzzled in the film. . . . And thus was sealed the doom of all seals on the show from now to eternity.

And worst is yet to come: Margie and ▶ her father find his boss in real trouble.

'...But Few Are Chosen'

Salute to the Coast Guard is planned via The Mighty O, with Alan Hale, Lola Albright.

From Among Scores Of Hopefuls, Only 13 Shows May Make Grade

It's a toss-up as to which is the more alluring entry in the get-rich-quick derby: prospecting for uranium or dreaming up a TV show. The odds against you are about the same.

But who cares about odds? Although many shows die after the first grandiose press releases, the number hopefully announced for "next season" continues to zoom.

As of recent census, 113 new shows were aiming at 1955-56 premieres—a number subject to change every hour on the hour. Of these, 13 seem like reasonably safe bets to wind up in TV GUIDE's program listings.

The Lucky 13, if such they can be called, include seven CBS projects: The Mighty O, situation comedy about the Coast Guard; Navy Log, a semi-documentary about, naturally, the Navy; The Phil Silvers Show, alias You'll Never Get Rich, which assures equal time to the Army; Gunsmoke, coming from Western, rather than military, weapons; The Alfred Hitchcock Theater, macabre and humorous stories told by the famed movie director; a Bob Crosby nighttime show, and one more time around for The Aldrich Family.

ABC will have Walt Disney's new hour-long, five-a-week Mickey Mouse Club. Independent producer Don Sharpe is peddling Sheena, Queen of the Jungle, with Irish McCalla as a feminine Tarzan, and is preparing The Frank Leahy Show, an inspirational series. Screen Gems, a Columbia Pictures subsidiary, is shooting Jungle Jim and You Can't Take It With You from, respectively, the comic strip and the stage comedy of the same names. And Hal Roach, Jr., has Sonja Henie signed, sealed and on ice.

Irish McCalla plays Sheena, Queen of the Jungle.

Long shots include an NBC series, My Man Sing, with Pat Crowley; Don Quinn's How Now, Brown, with Keenan Wynn; Inside Dope, with Cliff Arquette and Bill Goodwin; and Gross-Krasne's Alias Jimmy Valentine. CBS has a number of possibilities warming up: Marie Wilson, ex-My Friend Irma, as a secretary, Miss Pepperdine; and series tagged The Townspeople, Harte of Honolulu and No Way Out. Also in the "maybe" category are a quintet of 20th Century-Fox properties: Flicka, Mr. Belvedere, The Jones Family, Mr. Moto and Charlie Chan.

Tomorrow's I Love Lucy may emerge from a bumper crop of in-the-works situation comedies: The Soldiers, based on those guest-shot GI sketches with Tom D'Andrea and Hal March; Easy Aces, with Jane and Goodman Ace, the latter Milton Berle's scripter-in-chief; Fibber McGee and Molly, Baby Snooks, and many, many more.

Prospective Dragnets are tagged Crime Wave, Resistance, Fair Trial, Off Beat and Penitentiary. There are adventure, musical and off-beat shows aplenty in the hat. But how many will be pulled out is anybody's guess.

The Soldiers, with Hal March, center, and Tom D'Andrea, offers gagged-up look at Army life.

Just A Barefoot Girl

All NBC wanted was a glamorous head shot of Barbara Bates, of It's A Great Life*—and you can see that this was easy. But a meanie took her picture from head to toe—and revealed the human fact that Miss Bates—even as you and I—likes to be comfortable.*

The World Is Yours

Just Hop Aboard Maurice Copeland's Magic TV Carpet

Now is the time of year when dad fidgets at the office, mom mopes through the housework and junior pulls out his baseball glove—in short, it's the eve of summer.

By the same token a show that jumps in the ratings about this time of the year is WGN-TV's The World Is Yours. This Friday night (8:30 P.M.) travel show is beamed for easychair tourists. Although it's pitted against potent network opposition, such as Our Miss Brooks and Dear Phoebe, the show is rounding its third year on TV.

Host and narrator of these half-hour film travelogs is Maurice Copeland, a suave, free-lance actor. A veteran Chicago thespian, he's most prominently known for his role of Dr. Cory in Hawkins Falls.

It may have been fate that Maurice wound up as host of The World Is Yours. He claims to have been a bug on geography as a boy. Ironically, his travel experience is almost nil. He's never been beyond the borders of the United States. Like most of us, he can squeeze only two weeks of vacation freedom out of each year. And he spends these precious weeks roughing it on a ranch out West or plying his favorite sport, fishing, on the Northern Lakes of Wisconsin.

As host of The World Is Yours he gives his viewers a perfect illusion of a seasoned globe-trotter reminiscing about his travels. This illusion is a tribute to the dramatic skill he has acquired during his 20 years of experience in the theater, radio, and television.

Maurice's job is made easier by the expert production know-how of Jack LaFrandre. Jack unreels the show at a relaxed pace and varies the films enough to hold a steady audience.

These films are not, as you might suppose, old travel epics exhumed from musty Hollywood vaults.

Most are relatively new, acquired from such sources as railways, airlines, international tourist offices, etc.

The show's surprising appeal can be written off simply to mass wanderlust. Sometimes, however, the show touches a deeper chord. After a travelog on Scotland, this poignant letter was received from a South Bend woman: "Both my husband and I come from Scotland and we were thrilled by your movies.

"We even saw the very spot in Edinburgh where my husband proposed to me. It saddened us a little for we are both old and know that we will never see Scotland again."

Except, perhaps, aboard Copeland's magic TV carpet.

Another TV Tenpin Venture

The craze continues. Bowling, already seen on Chicago television three nights each week, may pick up a fourth night's exposure. WGN-TV and Sol Polk are hatching plans for a Sunday evening series with some novel twists. Format of the new hour-long bowling stanza would feature competition between mixed professional doubles.

Prizes offered by Polk would rival the generosity shown by Pete De Met on his Championship Bowling spectacles. The winning team on each telecast would reap a neat $150, with the losing couple splitting a $100 consolation prize. Winners of a playoff at the end of each 13-week series would be even more richly compensated. The top male star would collect $1000 (or its equivalent in merchandise) while the high-scoring lady kegler would get the dream reward of every woman, a mink coat.

At this writing, the show's debut date is uncertain. It was tentatively due to roll this Sunday, Apr. 24, but the start may be delayed by construction of facilities needed. At any rate, local bowling aces are already lining up eagerly for the program.

Cuffnotes: It may come as a shock to the Illinois Athletic Commission, but the licenses of many fight judges active in Chicago have expired. These "lame ducks" keep other qualified applicants from getting a license.

Dick Bingham, who earned plaudits as the announcer on WBBM-TV's stock car races, has left Chicago for Pittsburgh. He was signed this month to do play-by-play coverage of the Pirates.

TV GUIDE Goes Transatlantic

On reading the Jan. 1 issue of TV GUIDE, which was sent to me from Chicago, I noticed a listing said that the "Dagenham Girl Pipers from Scotland" were to entertain on a TV show. Your information was wrong. Dagenham is part of Greater London, only a half-hour bus ride from here, and is quite far from Scotland.—Mrs. Estella Marcus, Forest Gate, London, England. [Thank you for the belated correction. We're sorry that England didn't get proper credit, but we're happy that TV GUIDE has such widespread readership.—ED.]

Cries For Cullen

I think a whopper of a mistake was made when the entertaining musical quiz show, Name That Tune, was replaced by another show. I enjoyed the whole program, particularly Bill Cullen who emceed. Bring back Cullen!—Marilou Skinner, Valparaiso, Ind.

IN CHICAGO, more people than ever are cooking with GAS

Mrs. Fitzner says... "I'm cooking with GAS for good!"

Mrs. Marguerite Fitzner, 2960 N. Oakley, comments: "My mother once owned a different kind of range. But I couldn't get used to cooking on it. And it took a long time to heat up. So after I got married, I bought a gas range. Gas is so easy to control. And it's easier and cheaper to cook with."

Thousands of Chicago homemakers agree with Mrs. Fitzner: a modern gas range makes cooking easier . . . faster . . . more economical.

Modern gas ranges are smart-looking, too. And fully automatic. All burners light without matches. Automatic controls in oven and broiler take the guesswork out of baking and broiling.

A gas range cooks faster . . . cooks clean and cool, too. You regulate the cooking flame exactly as you want it. And when you turn it off . . . it's off! No heat lingers to overcook food or make your kitchen hot. These are among the many reasons why you can't beat cooking with gas for better meals with more taste appeal!

Only gas ranges give you so much for so little! They cost less to buy. They cost less to use. Gas cooks the average Chicago family's meals for about 5 cents a day.

See the latest automatic gas ranges this week at your dealer's or at any Peoples Gas office

Betty Anderson

Betty Anderson's success on TV definitely falls into the "local girl makes good" category. Betty, who has lived in, married in, and raised a family in Rockford, now stars in a popular WREX-TV daytime offering—Betty and Suzy. An entertaining puppet show aimed at the younger set, it's seen Mondays, Wednesdays and Fridays at 3:45 P.M.

A volunteer Red Cross worker in her spare time, Betty particularly enjoys entertaining patients in the children's wards of the various local hospitals. She's also active in civic and social affairs, being the vice-president of the R. R. Walker School P.T.A. group, and a member of Rockford women's clubs.

Married to a prominent Rockford businessman, Jack E. Anderson, the popular Betty and Suzy star is the mother of two active children of grade school age: Judith Lynn, 12, and Matthew John, 7.

WREX-tras: Channel 13 was well represented at the recent Rockford Home Show. Art director Joe Dalugozos and stage director Walt Davis lavished time, energy and creative skill in putting up an eye-catching display about the station's local and network programs.

TV GUIDE RATINGS

	Rating	Bouts	W	L	D	KO's
Vejar	9	65	60	4	1	31
Melis	Unrated	43	33	7	3	8

Melis, former Italian champ, makes his TV debut tonight. Since coming to the U.S.A. in 1953, Melis has lost only one in 11 bouts. Vejar, unbeaten since his return from the service, is shooting for a title bout. Chico, a fast-punching boxer, is pitted against a busy workman in Paolo.

No Laughing Matter

LAUREL AND HARDY FIND THEMSELVES ON TV . . . FOR FREE

One night last winter, a thin man and a plump one sat down to some drinks in a Hollywood hotel room with an old friend from England. Or, at least, that's what they thought they were doing.

But the friend proved to be live bait for a TV show, and before Arthur Stanley Jefferson (better known as Stan Laurel) and Oliver "Babe" Hardy could reach for a whiskey and splash, they found themselves in the arms of Ralph Edwards on This Is Your Life. Though their famous two-reel comedies of the Thirties are now making the TV rounds, this was their first live television appearance.

"It was," says Laurel, a native of Ulverston, England, "a staggering experience. Babe and I are both great television fans, and we've been planning to do something on TV. But we certainly never intended to start out on an unrehearsed network show!"

"And I," says Hardy, summing it up in terms natural for a 285-pound fellow, "couldn't eat for a week."

Actually, television has not been kind to these possibly immortal clowns. About 50 of their original short subjects and two or three feature-length films have appeared widely on TV.

"We made all the films on salary," says Laurel, "and everybody figured the life of a movie then was five years. It's a little disturbing to see ourselves on TV now. We're being used to sell products we never even heard of, and someone else is making all the money."

Their popularity in America is nothing to what it is abroad, where it has never abated. In Argentina, China and Italy, imitators of Laurel and Hardy prosper. In Germany, where they are known as Dick and Doof (Fat and Stupid), their films can fill a movie theater for months.

"In Italy they call us Stanlio and Ollio," says Hardy. "In Spain we're El Gordo and El Flaco—The Fat One and The Thin One. In Sweden it's Helan and Halvan." On American TV it's going to be Laurel and Hardy, vintage 1930, for the time being.

"We're definitely planning a TV show," Laurel says, "though we don't want to talk about it yet. But it won't be live. We made a hit in the movies because our pace made slapstick funny. Instead of just hitting someone in the face with a pie, we slowed down and showed our reactions. Reactions make slapstick funny. For that you need film."

"It takes a lot of preparation," says Georgia-born Hardy, no man to rush into anything. Witness Laurel's attempts to get the show on the road the last time they went on tour (they tour the Continent almost every year):

"I've been thinking," Laurel said, calling up Hardy one day in June. "We open in London in October. Don't you think we ought to freshen up the act?"

"Good idea," Hardy panted into the phone. "But it's pretty hot today. What do you say we wait until it cools off? Call me back in September."

Weather permitting, viewers may see a Laurel and Hardy TV show yet!

PROGRAM OF THE WEEK

Few shows have shown as much improvement in a single season as has Caesar's Hour, which is a credit to the openmindedness of Sid Caesar.

Credit also must be rendered unto Caesar's wife, who in this TV instance happens to be Nanette Fabray. The jelling of the show into its present successful format can be pinpointed at the date on which she made her initial appearance as the harassed wife of a zany and voluble suburban commuter.

Given the unenviable assignment of following in Imogene Coca's footsteps, Miss Fabray has been wise enough to play it her own way—and Caesar himself has been wise enough to give full rein to her talents. They are many. She sings, she dances, she clowns, she weeps. And she can exude a gentle charm that is exceedingly difficult to resist.

Having latched onto such a strong anchor to windward, Caesar has apparently licked the problem of what to do with three male comics. If Carl Reiner and Howie Morris have been subordinated to Caesar and Miss Fabray, it is no reflection on their talent. They remain two of the finest supporting comics in the business and are of that rare type which is actually better in support than when thrust more directly into the limelight.

Caesar's own particular brand of comedy, which can be called unique, still tends occasionally to get a little out of hand. Too often, when he finds a bit going well for him, he fails to recognize the red light of saturation and winds up painfully beating a dead horse. That, it would seem, is his last remaining problem.—D.J.

TV Reader's Digest

As its title suggests, TV Reader's Digest is based on stories and articles culled from Reader's Digest magazine. Accordingly, the scripts are varied and pitched to a wide audience. The show, however, takes a stand on nothing more controversial than Americanism.

It is well-produced and interesting, but won't win any prizes for outstanding TV drama.

The show has reported on historic personalities (like Pocahontas, "America's First Great Lady," in an overly-sentimental yarn). Other shows have dealt with such far different subjects as how a modern youngster almost discovered Blackbeard's hidden treasure and how a private eye shrewdly unmasked a killer.

Following the lead of most Hollywood-produced telefilms, the show features relatively well-known movie actors (examples: Richard Ney, Paul Stewart)—but few actual stars. The sets and other production trappings chosen by producer Chester Erskine are outstanding.—R.S.

Pirate's prey: Randy Farr.

Sid Caesar clutches swooning spouse (Nanette Fabray) in feverish opera.

FINE TUNING

By Ollie Crawford

Network plans new show titled The $64,000 Question. This is the $64 question, before taxes.

The big $64,000 question so far is where to get the $64,000.

This new CBS show is something like Take It Or Leave It, except that it's too heavy to take it. These boys are safe as long as a contestant doesn't arrive in a truck. This is the money you can win for just knowing an answer instead of a combination.

The big winner gets a free trip through Gleason's change purse.

The $64,000 question is really like the old $64 question on a field of bagels. It's the Texas oil millionaire's version of penny ante. This is what happened to the $64 question after inflation set in. After all the comedy shows, along comes one with goose eggs.

It looks as if somebody's summer replacement may be Fort Knox.

As one guy says, this is a pretty figure with noughts behind it.

Right after the quizmaster asks you the $64,000 question, the income tax man moves you up to the 80 percent bracket and asks you the $51,200 question.

A TV Actress Enters Room The Hard Way

There's more to television than meets the eye, and here's Constance Ford, star of the Pond's Theater version of "Anna Christie," to prove it. Merely to step across the threshold of a door leading from the deck of a barge to the cabin, she had to run 36 feet.

Let's see why. Beginning at right, she leaves James Daly (who played Matt, her seaman sweetheart) on deck and starts through the door. Actually, she does not enter but dashes over the course indicated by footprints, doffing her coat on the way. When a TV camera picks her up again, she's entering cabin, at left, to greet her father, played by Everett Sloane. The race was necessary because the two sets—the exterior and interior of the barge—were built separately, as the diagrams show. The small photo gives an over-all view of sets in ABC's New York studio.

Liberace's Elephant

IT WAS ONE OF THOSE GAGS THAT PLAGUE TV STARS

One morning recently, Liberace was alerted by his business manager, Seymour Heller, to expect a phone call from an Indian maharajah. It came through a few minutes later. There was a Los Angeles operator. A New York operator with a Bronx accent. London. Saudi Arabia. New Delhi. The maharajah's secretary. And, finally, the maharajah himself.

He was just back from a trip to the United States, said the maharajah. He had seen Liberace's show and was forwarding a token of his esteem—a rare and valuable white elephant.

Liberace gulped. Sputtered. Protested. But the maharajah insisted.

Later, mulling it over, Liberace decided some checking was in order. Again there was the telephone progression from Los Angeles to New Delhi—but the New Delhi operator had no record of an overseas call.

Several hours later Liberace received another phone call—from Glendale, Cal. A puppeteer named Tod Kittredge confessed that he, singlehandedly and multivoicedly, had perpetrated the hoax as a way to introduce himself and perhaps snag a TV guest spot; but he had been carried away by the magnitude of the spoof. Liberace laughed it off and congratulated Kittredge on his ingenuity. And if Kittredge didn't get his guest spot, he did get an invitation to describe his hoax this week on Art Linkletter's House Party.

This wasn't the first—nor will it be the last—time a TV star has served as target for a practical joke.

Bob Crosby, for instance, was flustered during a telecast when 24 members of the studio audience showed up in masks, looking like brother Bing.

When Gail Davis, filming an Annie Oakley sequence, fired at a "bad guy" and a studio electrician dropped to the floor, Gail began to cry—until everybody else began to laugh.

Martha Raye was flabbergasted at a final rehearsal when all the chorus boys and girls yelled: "And now the star of our show—Eve Arden!"

The social-minded Douglas Fairbanks, Jr., was delighted when Queen Elizabeth accepted an invitation to dine at his Mayfair home; not so delighted when a prankster, pretending to represent the power company, phoned to say all electricity in the area would be shut off on The Night.

Some of the shenanigans go on in full sight of TV audiences, as when Don Ameche, guesting on I've Got a Secret, revealed he had pawned the coats of all the panelists.

On his daytime show, Garry Moore was appalled when he ran off home movies supposed to show why he was fond of sailboating. The film was filled with bathing beauties. Turned out to be his writers' idea of a joke.

Humorist H. Allen Smith reports a gag pulled off in full view of a totally unsuspecting audience when he guested on a panel show. One of the regular panelists, a puckish newspaperman, panicked the emcee just before air time by displaying a necktie decorated with an underdressed beauty.

Throughout the show, while the emcee grew more and more jittery, the newspaperman kept toying with the buttons of his jacket, almost—but not quite—revealing the tie.

Fashioned Just For You

Something for the Girls

By Bea Johnson

Miss Johnson telecasts over KMBC-TV, Kansas City, Mo.

When you are planning your new season's clothes, what should you look at first? Yourself! Your figure! Then buy only the fashions that are becoming.

Don't follow the herd. Don't invest in a fashion just because it may look well on one of your friends. Study the new fashions, yes. Try on the H-line. The S-line. The L-line. The A-line. Then buy the one suited to you.

Have you ever shopped for a gray suit and been told, "They aren't wearing gray this season"? Who is this mythical they? . . . . You are "they." And I am "they." And if we "theys" want a gray suit—let's have one—even if it does mean you may stand out in a crowd.

I started working with Hollywood designers in the days of black-and white movies. When Adrian showed me the M-G-M wardrobes, I noticed all of Hedy Lamarr's clothes were in her preferred wine, black and silver.

Bea Johnson and models: she wants you to choose clothes for yourself.

"But the movies aren't in color," I protested. "No one knows what colors she's wearing!"

"The world doesn't know," Adrian answered, "but Miss Lamarr does. She feels more beautiful in wine, black and silver. So she is more beautiful."

There is a prodigious variety in colors and fashions this spring. Choose those that make you feel more beautiful—so you will be more beautiful.

CONFIDENTIALLY...

Imogene Coca Calls New Writers; 'Masquerade Party' Plays It Safe

NEW YORK . . . In an effort to strengthen her show, Imogene Coca has hired writers Coleman Jacoby and Arnie Rosen, formerly with Jackie Gleason and Milton Berle. Jacoby's the author of a couple of classic Broadway wisecracks: "I have the most wonderful wife in the country—and I hope she stays there;" "Women don't like mustaches—they don't look good in them." When his dentist sent him a bill with a note saying, "This debt is exactly one year old today," Jacoby sent it right back with the notation: "Happy birthday!"

■ As a recent guest on Masquerade Party with columnist Hy Gardner, I can testify to the precautions that show takes. So the panelists wouldn't see me in costume, they kept me a virtual prisoner in an upstairs dressing room for three hours and wouldn't even let me go downstairs to use a telephone. Best proof of secrecy: the panelists didn't guess who we were.

■ With Rhonda Fleming and Terry Moore both staying in New York to do TV and look for stage shows, lots of unattached young men are happy—Terry's divorced and Rhonda soon will be. But—cruel fate!—they've been going out with much older men. "Who are those old characters anyway?" one would-be wolf demanded. The answer was: "Broadway producers!" (They've been talking about scripts.)

Greer Garson: bejeweled.

■ Greer Garson wore $250,000 worth of diamonds when she went into Hamburger Heaven recently to nibble a sandwich. She was rehearsing her role in NBC's "Reunion in Vienna," and the gems were lent to her by jeweler Harry Winston. "One reason these hamburgers are so delicious," said Greer, "is that this place is so handy to Winston's jewelry store." . . . A columnist attempting TV asked Broadway wit Irving Hoffman, "What seems to be wrong with my program?" Irving replied, "You."

■ Dorothy Collins has been telling everybody, "I won't believe there's color television until I see it in black and white." Her husband, band-leader Raymond Scott, informed her, "That's one of Sam Goldwyn's lines." Said Dorothy: "Oh, so it's from smart girls like me that he gets all those dumb remarks!" . . . Perry Como's new deal with NBC involves around $15,000,000, but Perry wouldn't permit his managers to announce it. Didn't think it was important.

■ A certain Broadway loan shark doesn't have much faith in the tremendous sums reportedly being paid TV stars. This fellow looked up Jackie Gleason and told him, "Any time you need any money, pal, you can still get it from me. You always paid me back, pal—even if it did take you three or four years."

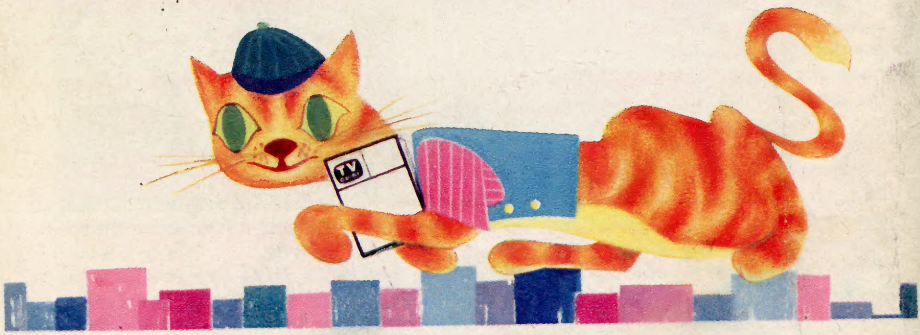
If you had nine lives, you'd be able to see every TV show on every channel. Unfortunately, most of us can watch only one show at a time. And it's frequently difficult to choose the one that appeals most to you from the many fine programs competing for your attention.



That's where TV GUIDE comes in. Its informative program listings enable you to learn about shows in advance . . . making the problem of selecting far easier. To be sure you don't miss any of your favorites, why not subscribe to TV GUIDE? The present subscription rate is exceptionally low!
